Head Coach: CLIFF ROVELTO Kansas State U

Under the direction of Cliff Rovelto, the Kansas State track and field program has not only experienced a consistent stream of success, but has also established itself as a force among fellow elite programs in the nation. In 2013-14, Rovelto begins his 22nd season as the head coach at Kansas State and his 26th at the school overall.

The steady progression of the K-State program culminated in 2001 with Rovelto being honored by his peers as the women's outdoor National Coach of the Year by the U.S. Track Coaches Association.

During his tenure, he has led Kansas State to back-to-back Big 12 Conference women's outdoor team championships in 2001 and 2002 and has earned consecutive Midwest Region Coach of the Year honors, giving him five such honors in his 21 seasons as the Wildcats' head coach. Prior to the start of the 2005 season, Rovelto earned the United States Women's Track and Field College Coaches Award for Service at the USA Track and Field Convention. Rovelto was nominated by his peers and selected by the officers of USA Track and Field as the 2007 recipient of the John Bennett Decathlon Award.

Since becoming the head coach in November of 1992, the men's and women's cross country, indoor and outdoor track and field programs have earned 196 All-American certificates and 125 individual conference championships. Over his 25 seasons at K-State, Rovelto has personally directed 56 individuals to 136 NCAA All-America certificates, as well as 54 individuals to 82 conference event championships.

The success Rovelto has cultivated at Kansas State has propelled him onto the international coaching stage with the United States Track and Field Association eight times.

An internationally recognized authority in combined events who helped write and teach the curriculum for the U.S. combined events coaching education program, Rovelto is a Level II combined event instructor, and is one of two coaches in the U.S. to coach multiple combined event athletes to over 8,000 points in the decathlon and 6,000 points in the heptathlon.

He has also served as head coach of the U.S. Decathlon Team in dual meets with Germany in 1997 and 2003. He also was named to the U.S. coaching staff for the 2002 World Cup and the 2003 World Outdoor Championships in Paris. In 2010 Rovelto was on the staff for American's Team for the IAAF Continental Cup held in Split, Croatia.

Under Rovelto's tutelage, combined-events athletes have earned 22 All-American certificates and won 15 conference titles. He has coached several internationally known multi-event athletes, including former Wildcat Austra Skujyte, who claimed the 2001 and 2002 NCAA heptathlon championships and set a collegiate record in the pentathlon while at K-State.

A native of Ancon, Panama, Rovelto spent seven years coaching at his alma mater, the University of Kansas. He was a graduate assistant on the men's team from 1981 to 1983 before becoming a full-time women's assistant and cross country coach in 1983. He became the interim head coach for women at Kansas in 1987. While with the Jayhawks, he coached eight All-Americans and seven Big Eight champions in five different events. His women's team broke 24 school records during his tenure. Rovelto began his full-time coaching career at McLouth (Kan.) High School in 1979. While there, he coached one high school All-American, six state champions and five state record-holders.

Rovelto is married to his wife Karol Rovelto, (formerly Damon), who serves as the director of operations for the track and field and cross country teams as well as an assistant coach. She was a professional high jumper and competed at 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney. The couple lives in Manhattan.

Assistant Coach: LORI SHEPARD

Vanderbilt University

Lori Shepard has completed her seventh season at the helm of Vanderbilt women's track and field. In recent years, Shepard has watched as one of her student-athletes contended for an individual national title and numerous others set competitive personal bests.

During her tenure, Shepard also has revitalized the program while overseeing an extensive update of facilities, including a Mondo surface complex on campus that served as the host site for the 2005 Southeastern Conference Track and Field Championships. Shepard's journey to the SEC head coaching ranks began two decades ago as a graduate assistant in track and cross country at Indiana University. While earning a master's in kinesiology, she apprenticed under Hoosier head coach Sam Bell, a legendary figure in American track and field.

After her time at Indiana, Shepard moved on to Eastern Michigan University where she coached the sprints, hurdles and jumps. From 1985-89, she served as a coach and teacher at Evangelical Christian High School on Florida's Gulf Coast.

Shepard also has plenty of experience on the international stage. Last year, she served as head coach of the U.S. squad at the NACAC Under-23 Championships in Canada. Previously, she coached Team USA to victory in a heptathlon competition against Team Canada in 1998, and had taught at clinics in Central America, Puerto Rico, Australia and the United States.

Shepard attended Taylor University in Indiana, where she is considered one of the school's finest athletes. She was the NAIA national high jump champion, and a five-time NAIA All-American. She was a four-time team MVP and a two-time winner of the school's Female Athlete of the Year Award. Shepard became just the second woman inducted into Taylor's Athletic Hall of Fame.

A native of Neenah, Wisconsin, Shepard also serves as a club coach for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Vanderbilt.
